Inform participants of the trip details, emphasizing the skill level required and hardships that could be faced. What do they expect out of the trip? Do they have any medical problems? Do they have the related gear? Do they have any questions? Use the checklist on the back of this page to ensure you have covered every item that applies to your trip.

Only you decide who goes on your trip. Assess the ability of each participant. If you have determined that they may not be physically capable or do not have the proper equipment then you must advise them that they are not suited for your trip.
